

Aaron Salazar

I'm Fine

Graphite

"I'm fine" is a picture that represents mental illness and depression. This character is suffocating with a burning cloth wrapped around his head, sitting calmly in his chair. But through the mask you can still see his expression. He's not happy with his life or himself. He can take the cloth off and put the fire out but, maybe he's just so used to things ending terribly and he sees no point in trying to fight it anymore. Becoming numb to all things terrible and sulking.